

End-of-Service-Life Update for ERS 8300/8600/8800 modules and accessories

February 1, 2019

This End of Service Life (EOSL) update is intended to re-publish the End of Service Life (EOSL) dates for ERS 8300/8600/8800 modules and accessories which were originally announced for End of Sale by Avaya. The dates remain unchanged from the original publications.

Note that the EOSL date for modules and accessories which are installed in a chassis may not coincide with the EOSL date for the chassis itself. Chassis-based support contracts which extend past the EOSL date for a given module or accessory do not imply an extension of the EOSL date for the specific module or accessory. The EOSL date defined in the original End of Sale notification defines the last date that the specific product will receive support.

Customers and Partners should refer to the dates below and/or the original End of Sale notifications to determine the End of Support Life date for each specific product.

For questions regarding legacy ERS 8300/8600/8800 products which are not listed here, please contact your Extreme Networks business partner or Extreme GTAC.
